Merry Christmas!

To every alumnus; to every former student; to the members of the faculty; and to every one of our fine, loyal friends, we extend this sincere greeting of good cheer. May this Christmas season bring you joy, peace, and happiness, and the new year open upon the most successful period of your lives. Alma Mater looks forward to a year of splendid increase, prosperity, and success. Measure for measure we would see her sons and daughters prosper.

The Alumni Secretary.

PLAY, BOYS, PLAY!

How crisp and fair the autumn air,
Ohio, up and play.
For worthy foes your strength oppose,
So win the game today.
How fit and fine our battle line,
The strongest ever seen.
O—hi—O—hi—O—hi—O—hi—O,
Sing the white and green.

Then blow them down, and mow them down
And rush them down the field.
Then batter them and scatter them
Until their line shall yield.
Oh Victory we sing to thee,
To crown our team today,
O—hi—O—hi—O—hi—O—hi
O—hi—O up and play.

Chorus

Then play, boys, play,
Lest the foemen should forget
That the winning streak of the ancient Greek
Is found in Athens yet!

—John Prindle Scott.

President Voices Belief in Ohio's Great Future

—State Schools Cooperate—Dean McCracken Praised

A sincere and confident belief that Ohio University has a great work before it, in accomplishment of which the school is preparing to equal the efforts of any similar institution of learning, and that the University has a great future, which it is already claiming was voiced by President E. B. Bryan at a dinner which he tendered sixty Athens business men, December 9, at the Men's Union. The dinner was in recognition of the services of the men, who, for many years, have been working in the interest of Ohio University. Following the splendid dinner served his guests President Bryan spoke, in part, as follows.

"It is my desire to make the largest possible contribution to the cause of American education through Ohio University. I left, at Colgate University, one of the five or six most comfortable presidencies in the nation to come to Athens and I have no regrets for coming here. I was born in Mercer County and have returned to the land of my fathers that I might devote my efforts to the work of giving the youth of my native state the best possible college education."

In speaking of the growth of the University, President Bryan said: "Indicative of its growth is the fact that two years ago there were 1072 students enrolled and today there are more than 1500, an increase of 41 per cent in two years."

Referring to the addition of twenty-five new members of the faculty this year in additions or replacements, President Bryan said that before coming to Athens he had met very few of the members of the faculty but he declared: "I speak the sober words of truth when I say I inherited an even finer faculty than I had expected." Complimenting Dean McCracken of the College of Education who succeeded the late Dean McIntire, President Bryan stated that "he would not swap Dean McCracken for any other dean of education in the country.

I would be willing to line up the Ohio faculty and say to any college president in the Mississippi valley, 'match that faculty if you can.' Some may be able to but most cannot."

President Bryan said that his aim was to put certain emphasis where it ought to be placed, as, for instance, the school of music, the school of commerce, and the school of physical education. "It is extremely gratifying to me that the Board of Trustees with so little money at their disposal has been able to secure so much faculty talent." He spoke favorably of the work of the denominational schools in Ohio, wishing them every success.

The friendly feeling of President Bryan for Ohio State University was expressed when he said: "Some say that Ohio University will always be second fiddle to Ohio State University. I say that Ohio University will never be second fiddle to anything. It is cooperation—not subordination for Ohio University. Ohio State wishes to specialize in graduate work and Ohio does not. I predict that within five years or less Ohio University's enrollment will exceed 3000 and that she will give the finest four years of under-graduate work in America. That is our aim. President Thompson has worked out his needs very carefully and although I do not know how many millions he needs, I am for all of them. I want Ohio State to have the finest law school, medical school, and graduate school in the nation, so that any citizen will be a chump to go out of the state for graduate work. I expect to go before the legislature for money to meet every legitimate need of Ohio University. I shall ask for not a cent less and not a cent more. I should consider myself derelict to duty were I to ask for less or to ask for more than we will actually require. I know the outgoing state administration is friendly toward Ohio University and I believe the incoming administration is also friendly toward this school. I do not believe it will ever again be a question of whether the state will provide liberally for Ohio University."

Another Pioneer Passes—Rev. Hoffman Dies in West—Class of '69

"Again the pearly gates swing inward;
Again a brother passes."

Rev. Richard A. Hoffman, for twenty-five years a minister in the state of Kansas, eleven of which were spent in Salina, Kansas, died July 21, 1922, at his home in Pueblo, Colo. He had lived in Colorado two years prior to his death. Rev. Hoffman had been in bed eight months following a complete physical collapse and for two months had been unconscious a portion of the time. For the last two weeks of his life he lay in a state of continual coma from which he never rallied.

Rev. Hoffman was born at Barlow, Washington County, Ohio, June 7, 1834. At the age of 17 he enlisted in the Thirty-sixth Ohio Infantry serving nearly four years.

REV. R. A. HOFFMAN

During his service he was taken prisoner of war. While being taken to Danville prison he jumped from a moving train and escaped. He traveled by night and rested during the day. For a month on his northward journey he was fed and concealed by negroes. If his life were spared he vowed that he would subsequently prepare for the ministry. Finally he reached the union lines.

Richard A. Hoffman worked his way thru Ohio University in three years, being graduated in 1869. He received the honor of being called a "Senior Scholar," and of being exempt from paying tuition on this account during his senior year. He was a member of the Philomathean Literary Society. He received a Master of Arts degree from Baker University (Kansas) in 1880 and attended Kansas Wesleyan University 1885-86. He was a trustee of the latter institution for seven years, 1886-1893.

The Methodist Episcopal church was long and faithfully served by Rev. Hoffman. He was known as a pioneer minister of the Methodist church in Kansas. In his quarter century of service he held pastorates in eight different cities and was for several years chaplain of the Kansas State Penitentiary. For ten years he was Secretary of the Northwest Kansas Conference of the M. E. Church. Beside his ministerial duties he contributed as editor and journalist to several prominent western papers, among them, the St. Joseph Morning Herald, and The Atchison Daily Champion. From 1901-06 he was District Superintendent of the Kansas Society for the Friendless and later Secretary of the Colorado Prison Association.

On Nov. 12, 1874, Rev. Hoffman was married to Mary Wilder Day at Irving, Kansas. Six children and a widow survive him. He was seventy-eight years of age at the time of his death. He was buried at Lincoln, Kansas.

DR. MARY B. TREUDLEY TO EDIT MAGAZINE

Dr. Mary Bosworth Treudley, '06, of St. Louis, Mo., will succeed her sister, Mrs. Esther Treudley Johnson, as associate editor of the "World Call," a religious publication. Dr. Treudley will assist in the editing of the magazine until August, 1923, when she leaves for Nankin, China, to teach in Ginling College. Her sister, Mrs. Johnson, was recently married in New York City to Mr. E. M. Bowman, and is leaving for an extended tour of the Orient.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Pardon, Please.

The editor in assembling the news material for the Bulletin has to rely upon information gathered from a great many different sources and it is not always possible to check the accuracy of all reports. For instance in the last issue of this publication in an editorial headed "Down With the Reds," we made the statement that an Ohio University football team had never taken the scalp of a Denison team but once in all the years the Ohio and Denison teams have been clashing on the gridiron. We have always been disposed to deal generously with an opponent but when it comes to handing out the laurels in such wholesale fashion it seems time to "check the signals."

Attorney James P. Wod, '03, President of the Ohio University Alumni Association and for years a close follower of Ohio athletics did the checking. Mr. Wood writes that "as an old timer" he could not let the statement go unchallenged. In 1901, at Granville, Ohio won from Denison, 16-0. In 1906, at Athens, Denison was defeated 20-0, and again in 1918, Ohio was the victor. You are right, Jim, (all his friends call him "Jim") and there are probably other victories to the credit of the Green and White. As soon as the stress of our secretarial duties abates a bit we are going to get right on this very important matter.

And to the readers in general of the Bulletin. If you ever have reason to doubt the truth and veracity of any statements contained in this magazine we shall consider it a favor if you will help us correct them. If your name is spelled Smith when even the dumbest of editors should know it is Smythe, or the wrong degree is attached to your name, why yell. We'll hear you. Prof. Mackinnon, a faculty contributor to the Bulletin, is the only one who is granted immunity from attack for anything which may appear in print. We couldn't keep "Mac" within bounds if we wanted to.

Should We Have More?

The editor of the Green and White, official student paper, after commenting upon the value of organization in industry and of cooperation in human endeavor adds that "organization is vital in college and university circles, too. That this is appreciated by the students of Ohio University is evident from the number of new fraternal societies that have been launched of late. Two social fraternities and three sororities have grown up in the last year. President Bryan actively encourages a greater number of fraternal organizations because he knows their value in promoting good school spirit and in upholding the standards of the institution.

"At the present time, however, only two-fifths of the members of the student body belong to fraternities and sororities. Only two out of five of the persons whom we see on the campus are affiliated with a social organization. There are many worthy men and women outside the bonds of these societies. There is room for more organizations on the Ohio University campus."

The value of the fraternity system has long been debated. We do not intend to prolong the discussion but we cannot help feeling that a situation wherein every man and woman might be joined in one properly supervised, close-knit, social organization or another would be ideal. Such organizations give an outlet to the social impulse that exists in every man. The fellowship and inspiration of fraternal associations would do much to round out the social experiences of many of our students. If the fraternal organizations can set scholarship and loyalty to the school above all else; if they can eradicate all trace of snobbishness; if they will refuse to work for selfish ends; and if their scope is broad enough to care for all then we believe that there can be found no one who will deny the value of such a system.

Help! Help!

With no reportorial staff and no syndicated news service at our command we find it a trifle difficult to gather together the news items which are of greatest interest to alumni and to classmates long separated and widely scattered. We refer to the personal notes which appear under the heading, "De Alumnis." It is the department to which many of our readers turn first. How we can keep you informed of the changes of address and fortune of your friends; of marriages, births, and deaths; and of alumni affairs at a distance is one of the most serious problems that confronts the editor. At present there are no class secretaries upon whom is fixed the responsibility for keeping in touch with the members of their classes. We can give you "the news from home" but we can't keep you in touch with the distant cousins unless you help. Whenever you hear a bit of news concerning an alumnus or have a desire to see your own name in print just sit down and write us a note or a card. We want to know about you.

N. B.—This is an appeal.

A New Football Coach.

With the retirement, January 1, of Russell W. Finsterwald as head football coach at Ohio University, will come the problem of selecting the proper man to fill the position which he vacates. Although several applications for the job have already been filed no selection of a successor to Finsterwald has been made and in view of the fact that another gridiron season is yet a great way off it is quite probable that no selection will be made in the near future. It is President Bryan's expressed desire to promote the athletic interests of the University in every way possible. The administration has given assurance that, in accord with its policy of bringing to the faculty only the best available instructors, it will move with extreme deliberation and not until after a comprehensive study and survey of the coaching field will any action be taken. A man must be found who not only has coaching ability but who will also fit into the work of the new School of Physical Education.

Coach "Jube" Finsterwald retires at the end of his third year as football mentor to take up his duties as the recently elected Prosecuting Attorney for Athens County. All Ohio University regrets to have Finsterwald leave its ranks for he has done much to place Green and White athletics on a high and successful plane. A glance at his record shows that he has been on the job and has faithfully performed his duties. In the three seasons his record stands: 13 victories, 10 defeats, and one tie game. When it is considered that five of the losses were to powerful eastern elvens the record proves to be a very successful one.

The Ohio Athletic Conference.

The Ohio Athletic Conference has instructed the athletic Managers' Association to consider the feasibility of adopting some system in their football scheduling analogous to that being tried in basketball; namely, a method that would bring about a scheduling of each team by every other team in the Conference during some specified time. Another proposal which has not met with the approval of all the members of the Conference is that the state be divided into a northern and a southern division because of the large number of schools now enrolled in the Conference and others seeking admission. Conference championships would be determined by a contest between the winners in each division. No action has been taken upon this proposal. Followers of Ohio University athletics have often been disappointed at her inability to schedule games with some of the strong Conference elvens. Coalitions and reciprocating contracts have often spelled disaster for Green and White schedules. A change such as that being considered by the Managers' Association would tend to break up the "inner circles" and work to the advantage of many universities and colleges in the southern half of the state.

Ohio Ends Good Season.

Ohio University's football team completed the season on Thanksgiving Day with a very creditable record. They emerged with five triumphs from the eight games played. This year's team was exceptionally adept at the aerial game which, combined with unusual speed, made it a team of great strength and one feared by opposing teams. In the eight games played, Ohio scored 99 points while 48 were scored by opponents. Of the four conference games played only one was lost and that to St. Xavier, 13 to 7. Victories were recorded over Baldwin-Wallace, Denison, Western Reserve, Otterbein, and Marietta. Defeat was suffered at the hands of St. Xavier, Bethany and West Virginia. The Bethany game was a heart-breaking contest lost in the last three minutes of the play. The score was 7 to 0.

Injuries at critical times in the season were serious handicaps to the coaches. Three stellar performers were forced to witness the Bethany defeat from the side-lines. The victories over Denison and Marietta, old rivals, were particularly sweet and added very materially to the success of the season.

Oh Yes! About the Subscriptions

To date subscriptions to the Alumni Bulletin total $790. Subscriptions, which cover membership dues in the Ohio University Alumni Association, have been coming in to the office in fine shape but anyway you figure it, folks, $790 won't finance ten issues of the Bulletin at an average cost of $150 per monthly issue. The response has been fine but it shows signs of dwindling. We realize that many alumni paid their dues and subscriptions in the spring of the year and that in such cases their subscription period has not yet expired. But there are many others who have been receiving the Bulletin free of charge, for lo, these many years and who have neglected to make a proper contribution. Two dollars addressed to the Alumni Secretary will make you a "member in good standing." Your subscription will extend from the day of its receipt to one year hence. You need the Bulletin; we need the money. It looks like a 50-50 proposition. Let's cooperate.

EMERSON PRIZE BIENNIAL COMPETITION THIS YEAR

The attention of all Alumni and former students is called to the generous prize of $120 given every two years to the winner of the Emerson prize. W. D. Emerson, '33, gave $1000 to establish a prize in poetry. The fund yields $126 each biennium.

For the information of future contestants, and others interested the conditions of the competition for the Emerson Prize are here-with given; they must be observed in every particular. Amount, $120. Date of award soon after the opening of the second semester, 1923.

The competitors must be either graduates or students in actual attendance at the University.

The poems must be in the hands of the President of the University before the opening of the second semester, 1923.

The prize will be awarded upon the merits of the production, not its length.

Only one production is to be handed in by each contestant.

Anyone having, in any contest, been awarded first prize, shall not again be eligible to contest.

The judges shall be three disinterested persons appointed by the President of Ohio University and the Professor of English Literature ibidem, who shall independently of each other pass upon the production submitted to them.

In the preparation of the MMS. the following regulations are to be observed.

Use the typewriter. Use paper eight and one-half by eleven inches. Write only on one side. Send in three typewritten copies.

Mark the MMS. with some pseudonym or character and send this in sealed envelope, with your name and address, to the President of the University. This envelope will not be opened until the award of the judges has been made.

GOVERNMENT BENCH MARK LOCATED ON LIBRARY TERRACE

On the southeast end of the Carnegie Library terrace is a large square of granite about two inches above the ground. This does not mark the spot of Fido's burial as some suppose; but is a government bench mark, placed there by the United States Topographical Surveying Department.

From this stone which is 699.124 feet above sea level, all the measurements in Athens and the surrounding country are calculated. Also the true north and south can be found on this stone, which is in line with a small cross on the west steps of the Library. Surveyors use this stone as their guide and "set up over it."

This bench mark was placed there in 1900 and since that time, has not varied a fraction of an inch owing to the large foundation of stone and granite on which it was built.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF TORCH. HISTORY TO BE PUBLISHED

The present year marks the tenth anniversary of the founding of "Torch," the honorary fraternal organization for men. Torch was established in 1912 for the purpose of recognizing unusual or outstanding scholarship and athletic ability among the men. A high standard of campus citizenship is also required. Cresset is a similar organization for women.

It is the intention of this year's chapter to publish a booklet with the pictures of each of the ten yearly groups. The booklet will be handsomely bound in flexible leather and will contain a complete history of the organization together with individual sketches of all its members. This material is being gathered by a committee headed by Sidney Beckert, '23. The book will make its appearance sometime during the coming semester.

BUFFALO ALUMNI INVITED TO OBERLIN AFFAIR

On January 2, the Oberlin Association of Western New York is planning an All-Ohio night, the feature of which will be a play given by the Dramatic Association of Oberlin College. They are endeavoring to get in touch with alumni chapters of all the Ohio colleges and universities which may be represented in Buffalo with a view to extending invitations to them to be present on that evening. All Ohio University men and women living in Buffalo are cordially invited to attend this affair. The names and addresses of our western New York alumni have been forwarded to the Oberlin Association.

Ohio Man Edits Journal

Ohio University has produced another editor in Prof. Oscar C. Stine, '08, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Stine is editor of the Journal of Farm Economics, the official publication of The American Farm Economic Association. He is an agricultural economist and is associated with leading national authorities on rural economics.

"THE FILLING STATION"

Turning my eyes from the appalling disorder of my desk, I have been gazing out of my window on a typical winter scene in Athens. A little snow and a little rain have combined to make walking perilous. Watching the girls pick their way up the dangerous approach to Ewing Hall has much of the fascination of an automobile race. There is the same thrill for the spectator as he realizes that at any moment some one may break her neck. Much of the zest in this sport was spoiled last summer, by Mr. Ad-dicott, our Supt. of Buildings and Grounds, who replaced the steep incline that used to lead to Ewing with a series of steps, and placed railings by the steps leading to Cutler. Death formerly was certain there in slippery weather; it is now only probable.

But the last Lindley Hall girl has now sped desperately by to her 8:30 at Ellis. I think she was "K" Alston, but I am not sure. No; there is "K" just starting now. Well, I have been looking back at our record of the last few months. I find much of it very satisfactory. Let me check over a few items.

Did you ask about athletics, Tyree? We cleaned up on both Denison and Marietta. Furthermore, I think I have never seen a football team here that I have liked better. The team spirit was always good. Factions simply did not exist. And it was a fighting team. Too much was said about our getting the breaks in the Denison game. Remember that we made a perfect field-goal, but lost it because of a penalty. And remember that the last quarter was played entirely in Denison territory. We did get some lucky breaks, but any of the team who played at Granville in '15 will say we were entitled to some. The plain truth is that we out-fought Denison from start to finish and whipped them fairly. And I want to tell you this, too, Ty. Every man on that team was in good standing in his class work during the season, and no one was paid anything out of any athletic slush fund. Our athletics are C P. and anhydrous. And wait a minute, Ty; I'm not through with you yet. Look at our schedule for next fall. We over with a practice game. Then come SEVEN Conference games, including Oberlin, Wesleyan and Denison. The season ends with Marietta here. All those teams are coming under two-year contracts, and so will play here a year from next fall. Next fall we entertain Cincinnati Reserve, Kenyon, and Marietta. Much credit is due "Jube" Finsterwald for his two and a half years of successful coaching. We are looking now for his successor, and I promise you we shall continue to look until we are sure we have the right man.

I wish old Carr Liggett and Mac Bethel and some of the rest of you could have been here on the evening of December 7th. We put on a concert by the two glee clubs that deserves all the superlatives in Roget. I have never seen a better coached outfit of any kind in my life. The material of the clubs was not unusually good, but they had a program exactly fitted to them, and they gave everything they had. This man, Robinson, who carried a club at Penn State from a position at the bottom of the ladder to recognition as the second best club in the East, is going to do things here.

If you happen to run across the next issue of the Journal of Applied Psychology, notice the title page. You will find that the senior editor is James P. Porter, Ohio University.

Vergil and Fern Falloon must see our new Green Goat if they have not met him already. The first issue was quite on a par with the better college humorous magazines, and the second issue, soon to appear, is fifty per cent better. Harold Wells is editor and Bill Klinger does the covers. Send two bits for a copy, or better yet, send a dollar in return for which we guarantee you four good issues.

You Torch men should see our new permanent quarters over at the Union. Next spring is our tenth anniversary, and we are planning to get out a souvenir booklet, costing, probably, about two and a half or three dollars. You will get a letter soon. If you do not, please let me know.

As I write there comes pleasantly to my ears the sound of a steam shovel excavating for the new gymnasium. Oh, business is picking up.

Confound it! Here comes Clark Williams to tell me to quit. And I had a good story on Dr. Chubb I wanted to tell you. Clark said I must stop at once, but I told him I wouldn't until I had told you that story. He says if I write another word he'll knock me off my chair. I tell him he isn't man enough. !! ** X ! - ? ! ! * x !! Well, I really was going to quit then anyway.

Scientist of National Note Meets Untimely Death—Head of Department University of West Virginia

Twelve hours after he had been thrown from a horse Dr. Chauncey William Waggoner, B. Sc. '04, head of the Department of Physics at West Virginia University and one of the leading physicists of the country died in a hospital at Shreveport, La. Dr. Waggoner's death occurred at 3:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, October 26.

Dr. Waggoner in company with a companion was horseback riding on the grounds of the Shreveport Country Club. The companion, who was riding ahead, upon hearing a noise turned and saw Dr. Waggoner lying in the road where he had been thrown by his mount. A passing automobile took the injured man to a hospital where it was found to be necessary to perform an operation. He died several hours later.

Dr. Waggoner was born at Rock Bridge, Ohio, Feb. 23, 1881. On Sept. 6, 1907, he was married at Lisbon, Ohio, to Miss Cornelia Gaskell, who was at one time a teacher in the Art department of the Ohio University School of Education. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Graduating from Ohio University in 1904, where he received his bachelor of science degree, he went to Cornell University and was given his master's degree. He was instructor of physics at Cornell from 1905 to 1909 and at the end of that time took his degree of doctor of philosophy. In 1909, Dr. Waggoner went to Morgantown where he taught in the department of physics.

Dr. Waggoner was assistant commissioner of weights and measures for West Virginia. He obtained a leave of absence from the university this year and went to Shreveport to engage in the study of certain scientific methods with reference to their use in the manufacture of glass. He had been consulting engineer for a number of glass factories and had patented several devices and processes. Many of his papers have been published in leading scientific journals. The West Virginia Scientific Bulletin gives a lengthy list of technical treatises of which Dr. Waggoner is the author. The work upon which he was experimenting at the time was a study of the Viscosity and Temperature of a Double Silicate of Calcium and Sodium; Refractometers and Polariscopes as control instruments in the manufacture of glass; and the Eddy Current and Hysteresis loss in Silican Steel at high frequencies.

Dr. Waggoner was president of his graduating class at Ohio University and an outstanding scholar. He was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity at Cornell, of Gamma Alpha fraternity, and an honorary member of Theta Chi, engineering fraternity. He belonged to the Morgantown Rotary Club and was a leading member of the Presbyterian Church where he taught the University young men's class.

Many tributes of respect and appreciation have been received by Mrs. Waggoner from friends of her husband testifying to the place of eminence he occupied both as a scientist and a citizen. Of him, Dr. Peacock, a leading consulting chemist, says, "I am sixty years old and have known well very many people—in all my life I have never known a man so useful and of much promise for future usefulness to mankind in general."

ATHENS CITY TO HAVE MODERN SCHOOL

The city of Athens recently bonded itself for the purpose of erecting a new high school building. The building will be one of the most modern and well-equipped in the state. Especial provision is being made for equipment to carry out the new physical education program. As soon as the new school is completed the educational system will be put upon the 6-3-3 basis. Six years of elementary work, three of Junior High, and three years of Senior High School-work.

Ohio University is well represented on the high school faculty. C. E. Stailey, '12, is city superintendent of schools, and the following are teachers in the high school: Helen Leech, '17, French; Anne Pickering, '14, and Merle Danford, '17, English; Harold Mardis, '17, Physics and Chemistry; John Welsh, Mathematics; Blanche Phillips, '19, Spanish; Lois Pilcher, '15, Commerce, and Mrs. Anna Price, '14, History.

The School of Physical Education

By O. C. BIRD, Director

I am pleased to have an opportunity at this time to present the plans of the department of physical education to the Alumni through the Bulletin.

People who are somewhat unfamiliar with this important phase of education are apt to think of it in terms of dumbbells, indian clubs or acrobats. I believe that we should consider physical education from a broad standpoint and with a big purpose. Physical Education should establish health, bring the body to physical perfection, develop energy, strengthen the will and the practical judgment, develop good fellowship and right ideals of honor and sport. Our purpose is, therefore, development of the physical, mental, moral, and social qualities of the students of Ohio University. This calls for a very broad program and must include a great variety of activities. I will outline carry on this year.

1. Physical Examination for all new students.
2. Freshman gymnasium requirement.
3. Intramural athletics.
4. Intercollegiate athletics.
5. Major course in Physical Education.

Physical Examination and Freshman

Requirement

Each student entering the university for the first time is given a physical examination. Students are then grouped according to their physical condition and special exercises given those who are in need of them. This department will attempt to keep in touch with defective students during their entire college course.

Intramural Athletics

The object of intramural athletics is to afford to as many of the students as possible opportunity for wholesome team membership in activity of an athletic, competitive and recreative nature, with its corresponding health and educational values.

A great variety of intramural activities will be carried on throughout the year. An effort is now being made to organize enough teams so that every man who so desires will have an opportunity to take part in some form of athletic competition. At the present time an indoor baseball tournament is being carried on. This will be followed by volley ball, basketball, wrestling, etc.

Intercollegiate Athletics

The great majority of alumni are probably most interested in the intercollegiate end of the physical education program. I would like to have the alumni think of athletics as an outgrowth of a well working system of physical education. As a result of developing this whole program we are bound to have better athletic teams. We aim to stimulate athletics in a fair and legitimate manner.

This fall we have had an excellent team and although we have not won all our games the season has been a grand success from many standpoints. The prospects for next fall are unusually bright with the majority of this year's team back and some very promising freshmen. The prospects for a good schedule are also very encouraging.

The basketball season is already under way and Coach Grover is anticipating an excellent team.

Major in Physical Education

The most important phase of our physical education program is the major course. This course will be given by the college of education and will lead to a B. S. in Physical Education. Graduates will be prepared to accept positions as physical directors, supervisors of physical education, coaches, playground directors, etc.

The demand for teachers of physical education throughout the nation greatly exceeds the supply and figures indicate that this will be the case for several years. It is therefore the duty of Ohio University to help relieve this situation by offering a major course. Men and women who are interested and have the ability will find it well worth while.

The alumni of Ohio University have here an opportunity to be of real service not only to prospective students but also to the University. This course should be advertised and presented to high school students. The boy who is interested in athletics is the one who will be more or less interested in specializing in physical education. I do not believe in persuading boys to come to school simply for the purpose of playing football, but I do believe in advertising Ohio University and the opportunities it offers to high school students. By building up the school of Physical Education we cannot help but build up our intercollegiate athletics. Let's show the young men and young women of the state that we have something here well worth while. If the alumni will do this, physical education will become more popular, athletic teams better and Ohio University will be of more service to the people of Ohio than ever before.

Editor's Note: O. C. Bird, Director of the School of Physical Education, has a remarkable record of physical training work behind him. The prospects for the new department at Ohio University are promising, indeed. He will have charge of all branches of athletics although the various coaches will be held responsible for their particular branches of athletic sport and for the results at the end of the season.

Graduating from Oberlin in 1912, where he was captain of the football team in the fall of 1910, Mr. Bird went to Minneapolis where he coached and taught physical education at the South High School there. He held this position for five years, making a fine record. In 1918 he joined the coaching staff at Ohio State University, under the leadership of L. W. St. John, director of athletics at that institution.

While at Ohio State Mr. Bird assisted Dr. J. W. Wilce in coaching the football team for three seasons. Under Wilce and St. John he learned a lot about the "State System," which has brought three western conference championships to that institution. He was Freshman football coach in 1919, and brought the freshman football team to Athens to play Ohio University. In the spring of 1919, Mr. Bird was coach of the freshman baseball team, and assisted in other sports.

Mr. Bird also worked with Dr. Nichols, at Ohio State, in leading gymnasium work. He and Dr. Nichols were roommates at Oberlin, where they both captained teams there. Dr. Nichols was captain of baseball and track the same year that Mr. Bird captained football. Dr. Nichols is in charge of the gym work at Ohio State.

Following his work at Ohio State he went to Minnesota where for one year he was Municipal Director of Athletics for the City of Minneapolis.

In 1920 Mr. Bird went to Alabama to put into effect an elaborate program of physical educational work there. He worked under the department of education, and had full charge of the work. The state legislature of Alabama had just passed a law requiring that each pupil take some form of physical training, and each school was commissioned to carry out the program outlined by Mr. Bird.

Just after going to Alabama Mr. Bird wrote a "Manual for Teachers of Physical Education" containing 300 pages, which gave the various phases of the work which he had planned. This manual was put into the hands of each of the 1500 teachers who immediately started on the elaborate program. Before he left there were 300,000 school children who were taking some form of physical exercise.

He organized a State High School Athletic Association for Alabama with 148 high schools as members in 1922. This was for the arranging of games and tournaments between the schools. Mr. Bird also put on a basketball tournament for the entire state, dividing the state into six districts with a final series of games at Montgomery between the winners of each district.

Some of the work which he put into effect in Alabama will be used at Ohio University. Each student entering the local institution will be given a physical examination, and certain corrective forms of physical training will be prescribed so that physical defects may be removed. Thor Olson and Miss Carson will be in charge of the gymnasium work, with Mr. Bird as the head.

Mr. Bird spent one summer at Chautauqua, N. Y., where he was in charge of the physical education work at the summer school there. He was the head of the Athletic Club there, and coached the baseball teams. It was here that he became acquainted with President Bryan, who was in charge of some of the teaching.

Thank You, "Spike"

Henry W. ("Spike") Lever, '08, of Wedderburn, Ore., also "checks the signals" on the Denison-Ohio football record. He writes: "In 1906, Denison came to Athens with one of the best teams in the state and took the zero end of a 20-0 score. Livingston, then an All-Ohio fullback, played and never once carried the ball over the scrimmage line. Ask "Crum" Kaler, "Si" Allen, "Hopper" (Prof.) Jones. They all were there. I am delighted to cheer with you in our victories of today."

DeFOREST MURCH WINS RECOGNITION

Former Ohio Editor Elected to Head
State C. E. Union

James DeForest Murch, '15, first editor-in-chief of Green and White, Ohio University paper, and now prominent Cincinnati publicist, was elected president of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union at a session of the 37th annual convention of that body held in the Cincinnati Armory last June. He was vice-president last year and now becomes the head of the organization. Mr. Murch graduated from the College of Liberal Arts in 1915. During his stay upon the campus he was known as a brilliant student and an active worker. He was a debater and the first editor-in-chief of The Green and White in its present form. Much of the pioneer work in establishing Ohio's campus publication was performed by Mr. Murch. He was also a member of Torch, the honorary men's organization. During his college career he made a reputation in Christian Endeavor work by organizing the Hocking Valley section of Ohio. He has been an interested worker in this work since. For five years he has served as editor of "The Lookout," one of the leading religious publications of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Murch has filled both pulpit and lecture platform with unusual success. In religious work among young people he is widely known all over the state. Cincinnati papers of recent date have been quoting him freely on his stand taken in that city for the drastic enforcement of prohibition laws. Murch is a former president of the Cincinnati chapter of the Ohio University Alumni Association.

OLD DAYS BROUGHT BACK TO MIND BY DR. SCOTT

Ex-President of Ohio, Class of '62,
Calls Up Memories

In 1860, Ohio University had about 125 students and three buildings, according to Dr. William H. Scott, president of the school from 1872 to 1883, who was a student at that time in the university. The buildings are still in use, Cutler Hall and the East and West wings. "We had little or no athletics," Dr. Scott declared at the time of his last visit, "but we played a game similar to football."

Dr. Scott is a former president of Ohio and Ohio State Universities and graduated from the former school in 1862. He returned a year or so after graduating to become principal of the preparatory department, which position he filled until 1865. In 1869 he became professor of Greek.

In 1872, Dr. Scott was chosen president of Ohio University to succeed Solomon Howard. He filled the position of executive for eleven years, leaving in 1883 to become the president of Ohio State University at Columbus. His term of service at that institution lasted until 1895. Since that time Dr. Scott has not been actively engaged in educational work. Both Ohio and Ohio Wesleyan Universities conferred the degree of L. L. D. upon him.

"We got our greatest interest," he says, "out of our two literary societies, Athenian and Philomathean, when I was an undergraduate. I was a member of the Athenian society and it was the custom, at commencement time, for us to meet members of the Philomathean group in literary contests. A great deal of good was derived from these two societies which could not be gotten elsewhere."

VARSITY "4" GOES ABROAD. APPEAR IN CLEVELAND

The Ohio University quartette journeyed to Cleveland, November 23, to be present at the meeting of the Western Reserve Chapter of the Alumni Association. An appearance before the student body of the Cleveland West Tech High School was arranged for and a trip to Ashtabula scheduled. At West Tech High the men were greeted by a storm of applause following their numbers. The program at this school was arranged with a view to a maximum of entertainment for high school students. The quartette was heard by over two thousand students and teachers. The trip to Ashtabula was cancelled because of conflicting railroad schedules. In the evening the "four" sang at the Hotel Winton.

ON THE CAMPUS

Bungalow Party

Dean Voigt and the members of the Y. W. Cabinet recently spent a very pleasant vacation of two days at "Hill-Crest," the bungalow and country home of Dean and Mrs. Chubb. The party is an annual affair much enjoyed by the members of the cabinet.

Aloquins Get National Charter

Aloquin, for years a local sorority, announced Dec. 1, the granting to them of a charter in Zeta Tau Alpha, a strong national organization. Other chapters upon the campus are extending congratulations to the Aloquin girls for the recognition they have gained. The chapter will be officially installed December 18.

Cercle Francais Presents Play

Miss Noss has chosen the drama for this year's presentation by the French Club. It is a Moliere comedy, "The Miser," in five acts. As is the custom admission is free to the play but programs are sold for ten cents each.

Mysterious Order of "Ohio Cayenne"

Just before the Denison-Ohio football game a group of Ohio men organized the secret order of the "Ohio Cayenne" for the purpose of acting as a cheering nucleus at the games, and to instill, preserve, and impress the Ohio customs upon the students. This organization is a representative group of men taken from all the organizations on the campus and from the non-organization men. It holds its solemn and secret meetings only at mid-night. The membership is increased only by invitation, the entire organization being made up of upper-classesmen. The whole idea of the bunch is "Boost Ohio."

The royal robe of the order is the robe of the bath, i. e., bath robe. These are worn whenever the clan is out in its official capacity. These robes are considered by the members of the outfit to give the wearers a snappy, neat appearance which the ordinary street clothes do not offer. The whole aggregation garbed in their royal robes always appeared directly behind the band when parading for a football game. Visiting teams were escorted by the order and taken to trains in cars provided by the "Ohio Cayenne."

Kitchen in Europe

Subscriptions to the amount of $1500 received from Ohio University students and faculty members for the Student Friendship Fund have made possible the establishment of a feeding kitchen in Europe where food will be furnished to 100 suffering students for one year. The location of the kitchen is determined by a national organization.

A New Department

A chapter of an international organization was effected on the campus November 9. It is to be known as the Ohio University Chapter of the International Council for the Education of Exceptional Children. The work of this organization includes the study of the brilliant child, together with studies of subnormal, deaf, blind, tubercular, and epileptic children. Miss LaVinia Warner is head of the department of Special Education at Ohio University and is also Executive Secretary of the International Council. The editor hopes soon to print a more detailed description of the work of this interesting department in one of the monthly departmental reviews.

Sigs Win Trophy

Sigma Pi fraternity won the finals in the intramural indoor baseball league. They will be awarded a silver loving-cup as a permanent possession. Intramural basketball is now being promoted.

Reorganize Courses

On account of a slight merging and overlapping of courses in the College of Education, a committee from that school is now eliminating the unnecessary elements and making the proper re-arrangements. The committee is composed of Professors Gard, Good, Porter, Hoover, Myers and Miss Eckel.

If You Care For Figures

Latest statistics from the office of the Registrar show that the Arts College and the School of Education are not far apart in their enrollment. Classification figures indicate that the students are taking a wide variety of courses. In the College of Liberal Arts there are 729 students enrolled in the following degree or diploma courses: A. B., 426; A. B. in Music, 8; A. B. in Commerce, 145; B. Sc., 3; Commercial, 57; Electrical Engineering, 28; Civil Engineering, 17; Music Specials, 30; Specials, 15.

In the School of Education the 786 students are divided as follows: B. S. in Ed., 217; B. S. in Ed. in Music, 18; B. S. in Ed. in Commerce, 3; B. S. in Ed. in Agriculture, 13; B. S. in Ed. in Home Ec., 76; B. S. in Ed. in Industrial Arts, 2; Art Supervisor, 2; Kindergarten Primary, 1; Kindergarten, 23; Elementary Education, 308; Elementary Ed. Rural, 51; Public School Music, 22; Manual Training, 17; Special Education, 7; Physical Education, 1; Teachers of Stenography and Typewriting, 18; and Special Students, 7.

"Don't Send Me Posies"

is not the motto acted upon by Prof. Oscar E. "Daddy" Dunlap who has charge of the University greenhouse. Sick students and faculty members as well as residents of the city are very often remembered by Prof. Dunlap with beautiful bouquets of flowers. The University Hospital and the Sheltering Arms Hospital are two special objects of his generosity and interest. The greenhouse, which is an addition of recent years to the Agriculture department, is cared for by latest scientific methods. The beds are kept full of plants at all times. The flowers now growing include the geranium, chrysanthemum, carnation, snap-dragon, and others. After these have bloomed they will be replaced by other varieties.

Ohio University Film Service

Mention was made last year of the fact that Ohio University took over the distribution for this state of the photoplay, "Julius Caesar," under the general direction of the Department of Classical Languages. Because of the very large demand for this picture and numerous requests that the University extend its service, other photoplays have been added including The Last Days of Pompeii, Spartacus, Antony and Cleopatra, and several smaller features.

Glee Clubs Score Hit.

The combined concert of the Ohio University Girls' Glee Club and Mens' Glee Club, December 7, was decidedly the most successful and high class, undergraduate musical event in the history of the school. The work of Prof. C. C. Robinson, director of the clubs, in bringing out the vocal abilities of the members of the two organizations is little less than phenomenal. A packed house demanding an encore for every number testified to the success of the program. Sunday afternoon faculty and choral concerts will be a feature of the winter and spring season. These concerts will be sponsored by the School of Music.

ALUMNI OF CLEVELAND ENJOY BANQUET

The first Alumni Chapter meeting of the year was held Friday, November 24, when the Western Reserve Chapter of the Alumni Association, one hundred strong, gathered at the Hotel Winton in Cleveland, for their annual rally and banquet. The banquet was served in the ball-room of the hotel where dancing and a social good time was thoroughly enjoyed after the tables were removed. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Ohio University Quartette and by the Winton-Owen Orchestra.

The get-together of the Ohio people in the Cleveland district was most enthusiastic. The reception rooms and the lounge of the mezzanine floor were scenes of many pleasant greetings and conversations. In many cases friendships of former days were renewed after a lapse of several years. During the time immediately preceeding the banquet and following the short speaking program it was possible for the Alumni Secretary to become acquainted with many Ohio graduates and to renew acquaintance with many old friends.

Prof. C. M. Copeland was the principal speaker of the evening. He was introduced by the chapter president, M. S. Bethel, as a gentleman who needed but little introduction to Ohio University men and women of from thirty years back to the present time. Prof. Copeland spoke of the new life and interests of the University and of the changes since the days of many of his hearers. The work of the administration and its aspirations for the future as well as the activities of the campus were reviewed. Prof. Copeland is a general favorite with Cleveland alumni and he was warmly received.

The Alumni Secretary spoke briefly upon the theme, "The News From Home." He bore the greetings from President Bryan to the Western Reserve Chapter and the news of the progress being made upon the Alumni Memorial Auditorium Campaign. As will be true at all winter and spring meetings of alumni, no solicitations of any sort were made. Following the speaking the annual election of officers was held resulting in the election of C. Carr Liggett, President; Catherine Chubb Munds, Secretary; and W. Frank Copeland, Treasurer.

The splendid success of this year's rally must be credited largely to Mr. Bethel and the committee associated with him.

ATHLETICS

Basketball Prospects Very Good This Year Four Varsity Men Remain From Last Year's Team

A squad of fifteen candidates are working out daily under the leadership of Coach Grover. Four of last year's varsity team are available and around them the team will be built. They are Captain Burkett, Thornville; Odaffer, Ashville; Herron, Cumberland; and Littler, Athens.

Captain Burkett is a guard of two years experience. He is an exceptional long distance shooter and mentioned last year as one of the best guards in the conference.

Odaffer, last year's center, is one of the rangiest in college circles. He is a fine player in all departments of the game. He received All-Ohio mention in his sophomore year.

Herron, a forward, is very fast, a good shot, and a dribbler of uncanny ability. Great things are expected of him this year.

Littler, a guard of last year, is the fourth veteran. He is stocky and possesses lots of endurance.

From last year's freshman team will be drawn three former Athens High stars who were members of championship tournament teams: Wise, Battin, and Bolin. Bonner, former captain of Lancaster High was the big factor in capturing the Southern Ohio championship for his team in 1920. Fisher, former captain of Doane Academy; McCleary and Dollings, Columbus East High; Woodruff, of Shawnee; Neilson, of Ashtabula, and Dupler, of Newark, are all expected to furnish stiff opposition to the older men on the squad. Coach Grover expects to present a scrappy team this year in the Ohio Conference.

ANCIENT RIVAL HUMBLLED IN THANKSGIVING GAME

Marietta Second Foe of Long Standing to Bite the Dust this Season

Ohio University defeated Marietta College, 3 to 0, on Thanksgiving Day, at Marietta, in the last game of the season. Wise, Green and White quarterback, place-kicking a perfect goal from the 25 yard line at the beginning of the second quarter.

Marietta was able to throw a scare into Ohio but once during the entire game, that being in the fourth quarter, when as a result of a bad pass, Ohio lost the ball to Marietta on the Ohio 20-yard line. With the Ohio forwards on the defensive, however, Marietta was unable to take advantage of the break. With the exception of a few minutes almost the entire game was played in Blue and White territory.

Both teams showed strong defensive work. The great point of superiority was in the aerial attack of the Ohio team led by Quarterback Wise which completely baffled the Marietta eleven. Ohio had four chances to score but could not hit her stride at the critical moments to put the pig-skin over the goal line. Duvall, Moritz, and Wise in the back field and Capt. Fiber on the line are entitled to special mention for their playing in this game.

This victory, with the win over Denison, brought untold joy to the hearts of Ohio University football followers. Both games were real contests, well and cleanly played. These games have contributed largely to the success of the present season.

VARSITY WINS LAST HOME GAME. OTTERBEIN EASILY DEFEATED

Playing in a sea of mud, without particularly exerting itself and without the services of Captain Fiber, Reinhold and Dollings, the varsity team easily triumphed over Otterbein, Nov. 18, by a score of 20 to 0.

The passing game of the Green and White team was very much hampered by the condition of the field but time after time the crowds in the stands and bleachers were brought to their feet by thrilling aerial plays. Two forward passes and an end run were the plays used to bring about the three touchdowns scored during the game. Statistics of the game prove the superiority of the Ohio team. First downs—Ohio 14, Otterbein 2. Passes completed—Ohio 11, Otterbein 0. Yards gained—Ohio 254, Otterbein 187.

UNDEFEATED W. VA. TEAM TROUPS THE OHIO GRIDDERS

The great undefeated West Virginia team crossed the cards on Ohio University at Morgantown, Nov. 25, with the result that the 'Mountaineers' took the contest with a count of 28 to 0. Coach Spiers' athletes scored two touchdowns in the first half as a result of intercepted passes. Ohio played West Virginia to a standstill in the first quarter being on even terms in ground gaining ability.

The game was played in flurries of snow and extreme cold. In the second half the weight of the heavy West Virginia team had a telling effect. Ohio's offense was carried on largely in the air although Duvall was able at several times to smash the mountaineer line for good gains. In the third quarter another Ohio pass was snatched from the air and a third marker scored for the opponents. The final score came in the last quarter after the injury of Ohio's field-general, Wise, and a bad exchange of punts. End runs and line plunges were used to put the ball over the line.

The West Virginia team is rated as one of the leading football aggregations in the east, standing ahead of W. & J. at the end of the season. W. & J. had for many weeks claimed the championship of the east. The showing which the Ohio team was able to make against West Virginia was remarkable and in everywise a creditable performance.

BIRD AND WILCE OLD RIVALS

Director Bird first became acquainted with Dr. Wilce, successful football mentor of Ohio State University, in Milwaukee where they played on rival high school elevens. Dr. Wilce was a star on West High while Mr. Bird was a luminary for the Milwaukee Sough High. The two men met on the gridiron on several occasions during high school days. After graduation Wilce went to the University of Wisconsin while Bird went to Oberlin. Both are graduates of their respective schools. When again they met it was at Ohio State where Dr. Wilce was head football coach and Mr. Bird a member of the coaching staff. They have been, and are, friends of long standing.

Conference games of vital interest on the Green and White schedule this year are those with Cincinnati, Oberlin, St. Xavier and Wittenberg. ## PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

Co-eds Have Wide Range in Choosing Their Gym Work

Thanksgiving vacation closed the season of fall sports for the women in the physical education department. The work of the women's division is carried on under the direction of Prof. Bird with Miss Ruth Carson as instructor. The enrollment has been very heavy this year, over six hundred girls having registered for the course. ## NEW GYM TO BE ONE OF THE FINEST IN STATE

Stadium Builders Get Contract. Work Starts at Once

The sound of a giant steam shovel excavating for the foundation of Ohio University's new gymnasium attracts many visitors these days. The construction contract was given to the E. H. Latham Company, of Columbus, on its bid of $219,358, this sum being nearly $30,000 under the highest bidder. Six contracting firms submitted bids for the work. The Latham Company is well known for its construction of the famous Ohio State Stadium. Under the terms of the contract the building must be completed by next fall.

The new gymnasium, according to the designs made by Architect Frank L. Packard, will be one of the most beautiful and serviceable buildings of its kind among the Ohio colleges. The structure will be three stories high, 106 feet wide and 160 feet long. It will be erected on President Street on what was formerly known as the Golden lot (opposite Science Hall), and will provide for quick and easy access to Ohio Field across the river.
